October 12-13, 2026 | De Prime Rangnam Hotel, Bangkok, Thailand

Co-organizing partners: Al Bawsala, IBON International, The Reality of Aid Asia Pacific, MENAFem, Economic Justice and Rights Action Coalition, Bretton Woods Project, Institute of Political Economy (IPE), Center for Egyptian Women's Legal Assistance (CEWLA), FEMNET, JASS, Debt for Climate, Young Urban Women Movement, WEDO, ActionAid, Christian Aid, Campaign for People and Planet (End Austerity), Akina Mama wa Afrika, Asia Pacific Forum on Women, Law and Development (APWLD), Union de l'Action Féministe, Aswat Nissa, Alternative Law Collective, APMDD, Eurodad

Why dealing with IFIs is a Feminist Issue?

Monday, October 12, 2026 | 9:30 AM - 11:00 AM

De Prime Rangnam Hotel, Bangkok, Thailand

International Financial Institutions (IFIs) shape economic policies and affect public services including healthcare, education, care, work, public services, and climate action, making global economic governance a feminist issue.

The Political Economy of War: How economic, military, multilateralism and diplomatic power are creating and increasing global inequalities and how this is affecting women and girls?

Monday, October 12, 2026 | 11:00 AM - 12:30 PM

De Prime Rangnam Hotel, Bangkok, Thailand

This session will examine how economic, military, multilateral and diplomatic power intersect in times of war and conflict, deepening global inequalities, weakening democratic systems and disproportionately affecting women and girls. Building on the Rabat Declaration, the discussion will explore how feminist movements can challenge unequal power structures, defend democratic values and institutions, strengthen accountability, and advance alternatives grounded in peace, justice and gender equality.

The Real Cost of Debt (Screening)

Monday, October 12, 2026 | 1:30 PM - 3:00 PM

De Prime Rangnam Hotel, Bangkok, Thailand

This session will present The Real Cost of Debt project, which explores the human and gendered impacts of the debt crisis through personal storytelling. The session will create space for reflection and discussion on feminist alternatives to debt and economic injustice, showcasing some of the movies from the project.

Feminist Festival of Resistance & Alternatives

Sovereign Economic Visions, Beyond Private Capital: Workers, Peasants, and Indigenous Peoples Speak Out

Decades of neoliberalism trapped the global South in commodity exports, hollowed out domestic production, and monopolised wealth and power to a few. The monopoly capitalist system instead pushed private capital as the silver bullet to development problems.

Feminist Festival of Resistance & Alternatives

Climate and Debt: A toxic relationship and red flag for Care

Finance flows relating to the global debt crisis are a triple disaster for the climate. Countries on the front lines of the climate crisis are forced to spend so much of their national budgets on repaying debt, that debt-based finance flows are driving fossil fuel expansion, preventing climate action, and leaving communities highly exposed to increasing climate impacts.
